

Supplement to THE GRAPHIC, September 21, 1889

A BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF THE WEST END OF LONDON
DRAWN BY H. W. BREWER

Detailed prospect of the West End of London

BREWER, Henry William.

A Bird's-Eye View of the West End of London.

London: The Graphic, 1889. Wood engraving. 465 x 1130mm.

£1,500

An unusual aerial view of London, taken from above the Houses of Parliament, but looking away from the City, issued as a supplement to the Graphic newspaper on 21st September 1889. On the right edge is Trafalgar Square with Nelson's Column and the National Gallery; the the right foreground are Westminster Abbey and St Margaret's Church; in the middle distance at the centre is Buckingham Palace, with the Royal Albert Hall and Albert Memorial behind; and on the left is Pimlico, with Vincent Square, Victoria Station and Chelsea Bridge.

Stock ID :17896