

Map of the Danube Campaign of the Crimean War

WYLD, James.

Map of the Country between Odessa, and Constantinople, embracing the present Seat of War between the Russians and Turks.

London, Wyld, c.1854. Lithographic folding map, original outline colour, laid on linen, brown cloth covers, with publisher's label. 840 x 560mm.

£275

Detailed map of the countries to the west of the Black Sea, including Russia, Moldavia, Walachia, Bulgaria and Romania, It extends from Larissa east to Isnik and from Chotym south to Volo, with insets of Schoumla (Shumen), the Bosphorus and Dardanelles. This covers the area of the Danube Campaign of 1853-4, during the Crimean War, in which the Russians pushed south through the eastern Balkans towards Istanbul, but, lacking local support and facing Allied pressure, they pulled back.

Stock ID :12023