

A large and detailed map of India

WALKER, J. & C.

Map of India from The most recent Authorities.

London: William Houghton Allen, 1882. Steel engraving with original colour. Dissectioned and laid on linen with bookseller's ads, total 970 x 890mm, folded into a contemporary Stanfords buckram slipcase with title label.

£550

A large and colourful map of India, also including Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh and northern Burma. Originally published in the 1840s this example has been updated considerably; a new key of the possessions of the European powers is placed east of Sri Lanka, but the outline of the old key still remains in the lower left corner.
