

A British propaganda poster praising the R.A.F.

Anonymous.

Comment on Frappe l'Allemagne aux Points les Plus Sensibles. Les Attaques Croissantes de la R.A.F. 1943 - Le Poids de l'Attaque Augmente sans Arrêt.

British, 1943. Chromolithograph. Sheet 330 x 200mm.

£350

A propaganda poster showing R.A.F. bombs falling on a map of northern Germany. There are three regional targets, with their cities shown aflame: the Rhineland, including Dusseldorf and Cologne; the North Sea coast, with Bremen and Hamburg; and the Baltic coast, with Kiel, Lubeck, Rostock & Stettin. The area has three bombs dated 1940, 1941 & 1942, increasing in size dramatically, representing the amount of ordnance dropped, as the Allies fought back. This poster was also published in other languages, including Portuguese and Arabic.

Stock ID :19642