

Early 19th century prospect of London from the North

SWERTNER, John.
 London.

Bristol, 1801. Coloured aquatint. 435 x 700mm.

£1,800

A view of London from Canonbury Tower in Islington, looking south-west, with the New River running into Islington Parish and haymakers in the foreground. The Rev. John Swertner (1746-1813) was a Moravian Minister and, when not producing views such as this, a prolific writer of hymns.

Stock ID :20361