

A striking 18th century map of Kent on two sheets

PARKER, Samuel.

A Map of the County of Kent.

London: D. Midwinter, 1719. Coloured. Two sheets conjoined, total 585 x 800mm.

£2,400
